Black Dogs to howl tonight

CANBERRA'S own little howlers, Black Dogs, will play at the North Canberra Bowling Club, McCaughey Street, in Turner, at 8.30 tonight.

Famous for their distinctive busking which has made babies cry and loonies laugh in Civic, the Dogs will inject their own style of humour and musical mayhem to the show.

And for a cultural balance, poetry readings by members of the Splinters theatre group and others, slide shows, and films will accompany the performance.

Cost of the evening is a mere $2 — they're worth more, so go.
